A Letter From The Editors

When the OLYMPIAD first appeared for publication, it was a simple, rather plain book. Today, 60 years later, it is sophisticated and artistic, providing Olympia's students with a prized visual record of their high school years.

Not only is 1984 the 60th anniversary of the OLYMPIAD, but it is also the 60th anniversary of TIME magazine. Consequently, we felt it fitting to construct an annual with both a vivid photographic format and TIME's journalistic style. Using the journalist's pen to complement our photo-story, we hope to preserve today's moments for a future when memories have dimmed.

Co-editors Laurie Wieland and Jill Lindberg, teamed with staff members, found compiling this annual a challenging task. Trying to select the most representative photographs and making sure all events were covered often caused headaches for photographers Stephanie Hensley and Brent Hermanson who, helped by others, met staffer's demands.

Another major challenge was the finding of just the right bear logo for the cover. For this, we looked to talented senior artist Kelly Curtis, who had recently designed the insignia for the U.S.S. OLYMPIA. We were not disappointed. Kelly presented us with a sketch that exactly fit our TIME theme.

Together, we have tried to use words and photos to recap the year's activities in a way that will make this year's OLYMPIAD timeless, a record not just of this year, but one that will be just as alive a year from now — or ten years or even sixty years.

Cover

This year's cover displays Kelly Curtis' illustration of the Bear of the Year, our ever popular school symbol, the Oly Bear.

14 World

The senior class of 1984 looks back upon the fun times and accomplishments made in their last year of high school. They've finally made it to the top!

188 Business

Support the businesses which make our annual publication possible.

42 Nation

Everyone knows that juniors are eager to become seniors. Don't try to get there too quickly though, juniors. Enjoy high school now and have a fun-filled senior year!

60 State

The sophomores now have two years of high school under their belts. Keep on going!

74 City

Everything about high school is new and exciting for the freshmen ("Frosh"). Good luck freshmen in all of the years ahead. Carry on that great school spirit!

90 Education

No school coverage would be complete without mentioning our fabulous faculty. Here's to all the hard work they had to put in this year, and the year before that, and the year before that.

102 Milestones

"Memories light the corners of our minds." So many things happen in a year it's almost impossible to keep track of them all. Remember all of the good times, activities, and accomplishments shared with friends in our activity section.

138 Sports

Where sports are played, you are sure to find the Bears. A "well done" to everyone who devoted his or her blood, sweat, and tears to school athletics this year.

Hanging Out...

Right: Brenda Paulson, Debbie Sevedge, Holly Neel, and Donetta Olson: Could it be people are enjoying cafeteria food? Below: Angie Crowe and Susan Schick express their love for french fries.

When Class Is Out

Top left: While waiting for school to start, these industrious people build a pyramid. Middle: "Well, girls," asks Mark Ward, "anything else you want me to eat?" Top Right: "Not more homework, Jay," says Tricia Campbell. Above: Sue Pontious and Marlene Zarrell wonder if the bus will ever show up.

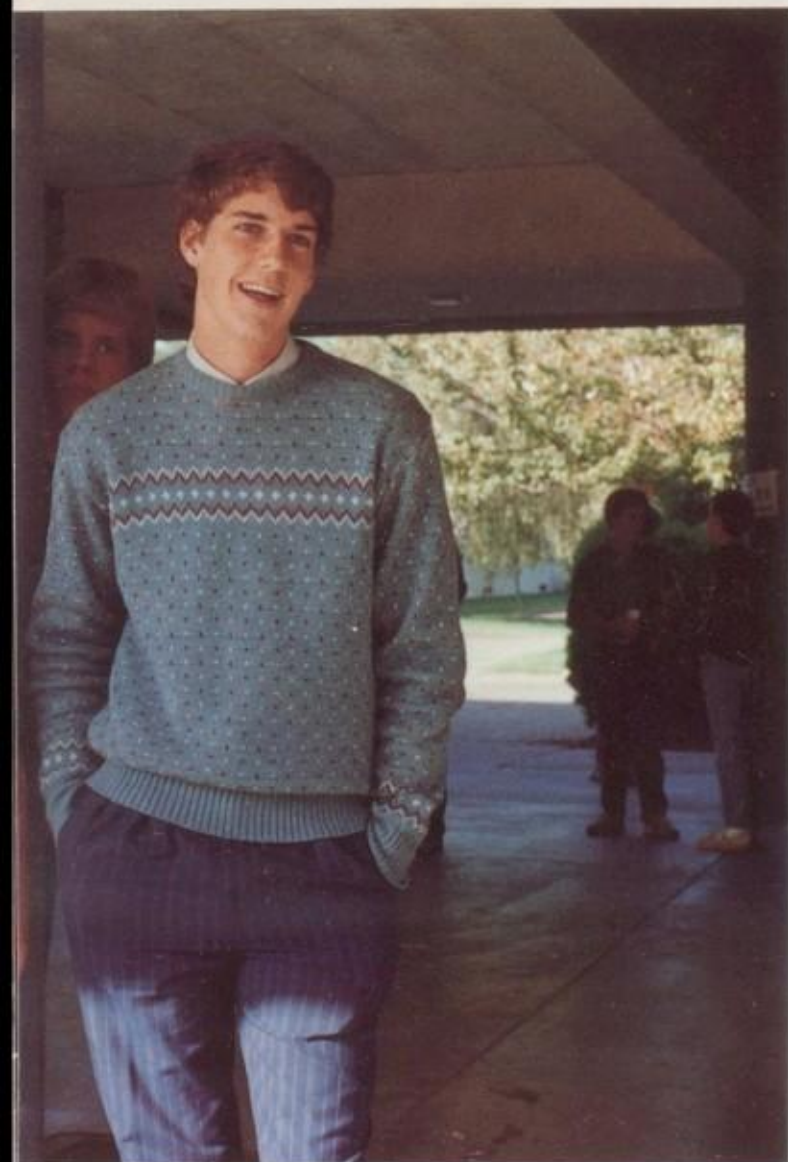

From Class To Lunch . . .

A Lively Bunch

Homecoming Happenings— The Costumes And Court

Oly's campus looked like a United Nation's meeting as the freshmen's choice of International Day started spirit week with a new twist. Geisha girls wearing brightly-colored kimonos and Arabs with ornate turbans mingled in the halls. Meanwhile, beneath the library, Swiss yodelers unsuccessfully tried to scale the tall pillars.

By Tuesday, the gang was headed for the beach with sophomore-selected Beach Bum Day. Despite Olympia's somewhat cloudy sky, the smell of suntan oil lingered in the air; students in lawn chairs, swaying to the beat of the Beach Boys, dotted the campus; and frisbees flew everywhere.

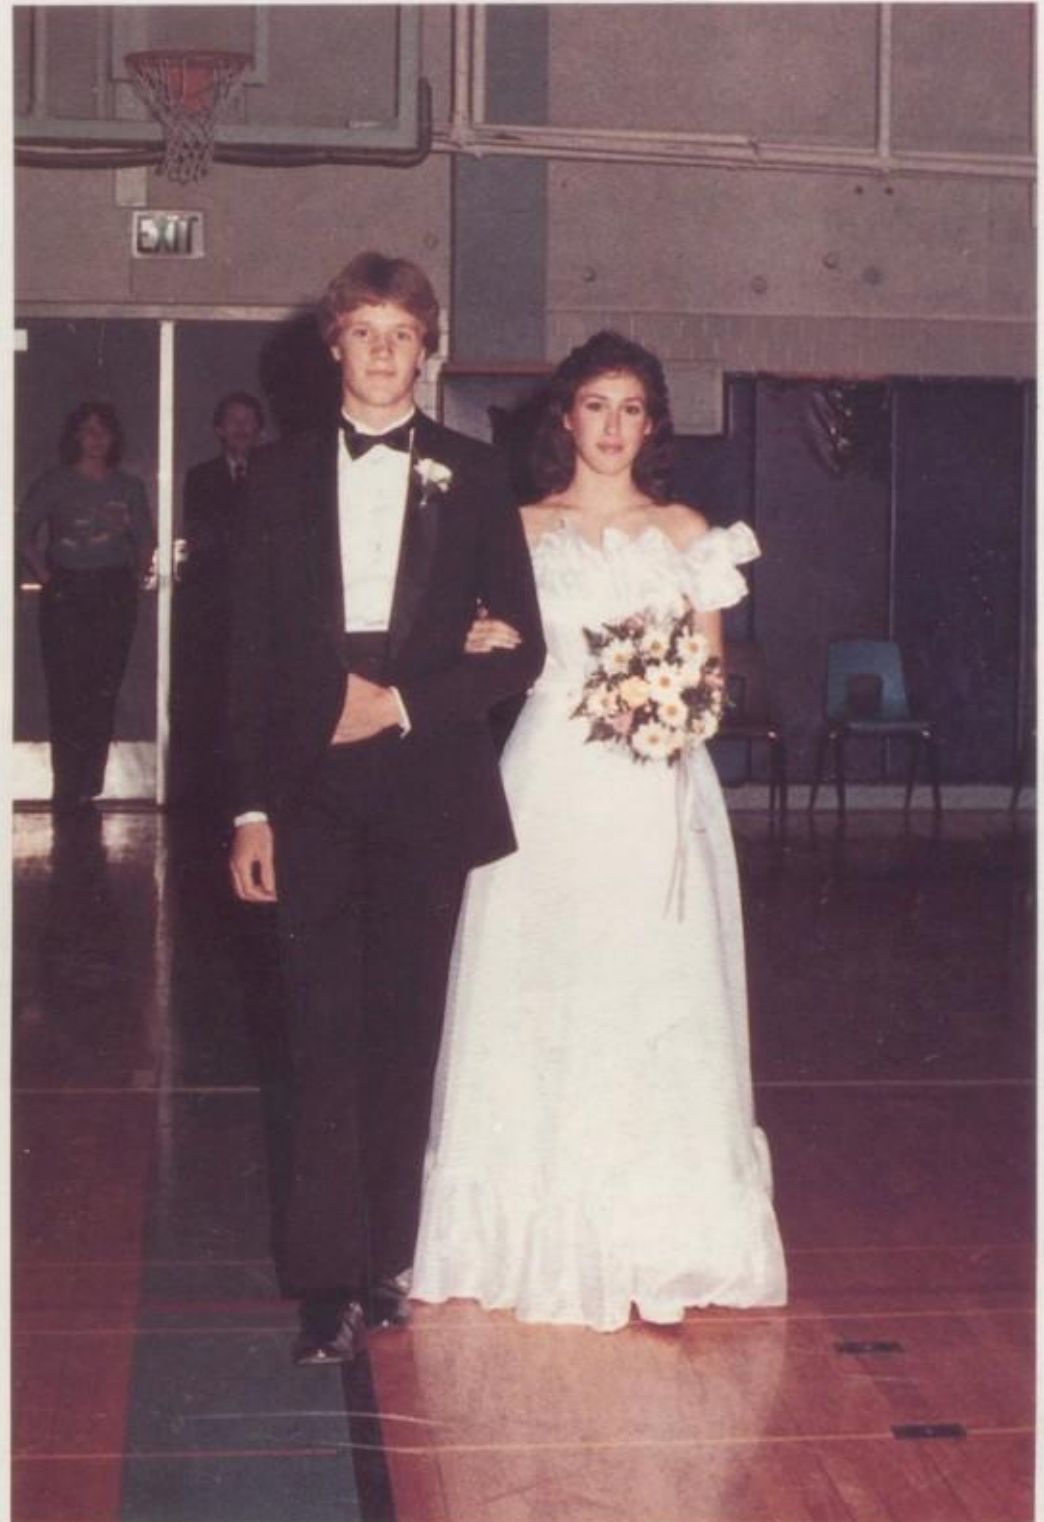

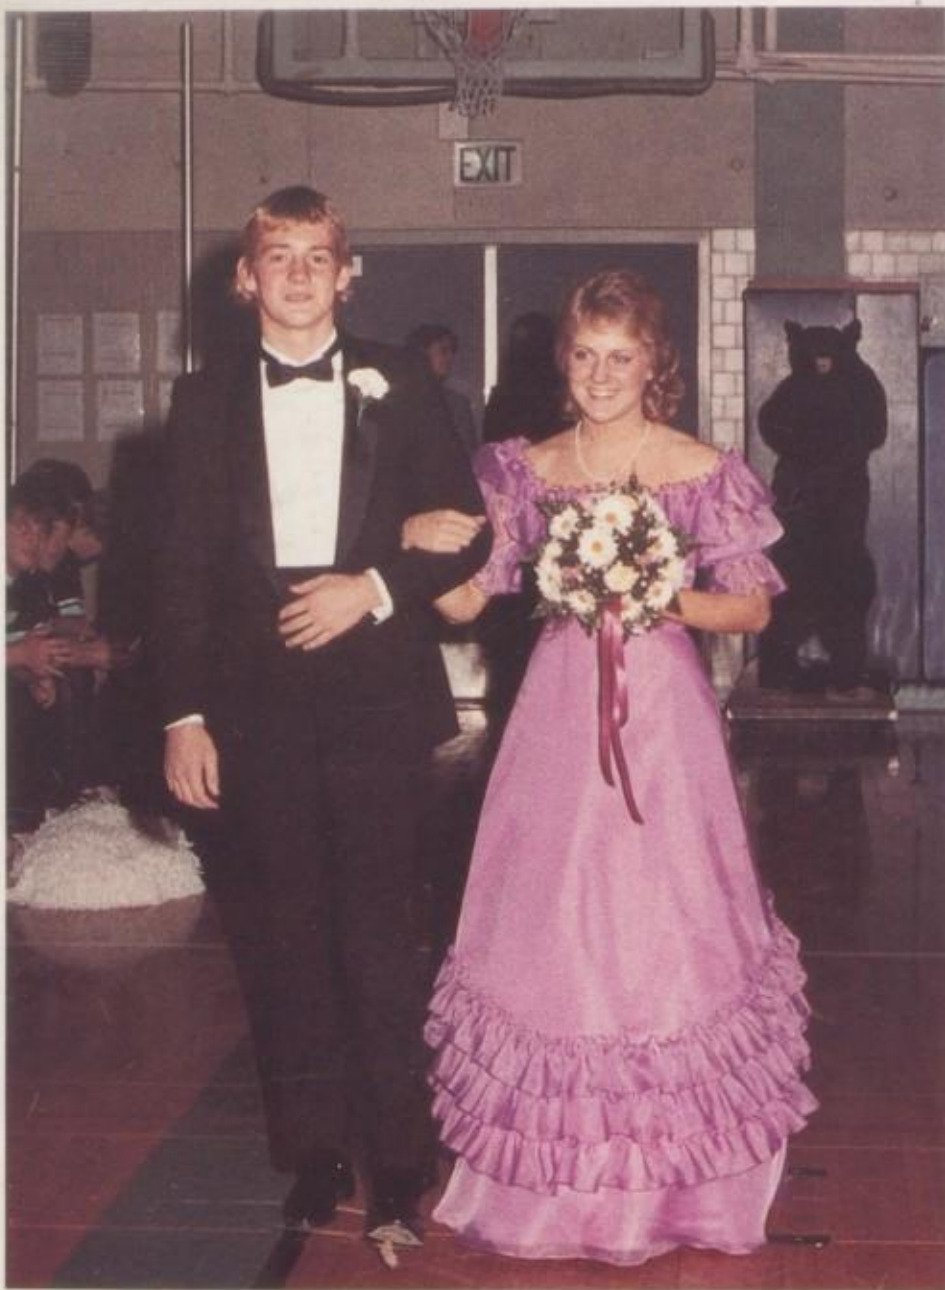

Juniors' Pajama Day gave the tired but enthusiastic Bears a rest in the middle of the week. Fuzzy panda bear and Mickey Mouse slippers skittered through the halls; and in every classroom flannel pajamas, stocking caps, and teddy bears added to the cozy atmosphere.

Seniors' Polyester Disco Day brought out students arrayed in glorious polyester, dark sunglasses and tacky jewelry. But now the Bears in Oly-dom danced to a different tune: the Bee Gees!

Spirits came to a peak on Friday, traditional Blue and White Day. Students finished the week in style with white-painted faces and blue-colored hair. The day whizzed by as shortened classes preceded the Homecoming assembly. It was at this point that the true Bear talent came through. Expertly done skits, especially the seniors' "Bearman and Brown Boy," had the entire student body roaring with laughter. Then an inspiring pep talk by Coach Dunn led the Bears to a 28-7 victory over the Elma Eagles.

The Football And The Fun

International Day

Upper Middle: After missing the plane to Hawaii, Jill Carevalli and Leslie Bash visit the next best place. Lower Middle: Alpine climbers Dave Merchant and Jeff Ernst prove there is more than one way up to the library. Top Left: Jennifer Wack looks for her wok. Above: Local geishas, Kristin Huggins, Gwyn Solt, and Kim Thielen make their appearance on International Day.

Beach Bum Day

Pajama Day

Polyester-Disco Day

Other Activities

FACES IN THE CLASSROOM . . .

A wide variety of interesting classes and activities were offered to students. The English Department aroused much student interest with the Shakespeare Week in December. During this week, two actors from the Oregon Shakespearean Festival in Ashland put on a show for the entire student body while some lucky students traveled to Seattle to see the Boston Shakespeare Company Ensemble. Another English activity involved a sophomore honors class writing short stories which were then read to a delighted group of Oly Bear Daycare children.

The Music Department got off to a good start with the help of two student teachers during first semester. Orchestra, band, and chorus concerts and competitions kept Mr. and Mrs. Timmerman busy throughout the entire year. Accordingly, small ensemble groups such as the Good Days, Strolling Strings, and Madrigals were kept occupied with numerous performances, especially at Christmas time.

The big news in the Business Department was the addition of fifteen Apple IIE computers. As a result, Room 103 was remodeled and a computer center established there. More computer classes were also added to the curriculum. With computers becoming such an important part of high school, a separate Computer Department may be developed in the near future.

John Stocks gets involved with the Shakespeare assembly.

Chris Behrens gets a kick out of typing.

Mr. Wachter helps Dana with her drafting.

"Is there someone around who knows how to run this machine?" inquires Keith Twibell.

Having found the engine, Mr. Strobl and Derek Kerstetter move on to bigger and better things.

"Let's see, how does this computer work?" asks Mike Kloepper.

"Now, THIS is the proper way to fold paper," explains Mr. O'Sullivan.

Holly Shook remembers she needs to have her book checked out before going through the library's new sensor.

Jackie Baldwin prepares the showcase for Shakespeare week.

FROM PERIOD 1 TO PERIOD 6

Printer Keith Twibell carefully adjusts the camera readings.

Tim Malroy helps mold the future of America.

Becky Read bops the birdie.

Typing students work hard during class.

The maestro of the keyboard ... Patricia Freinwald.

During the holiday season, IEP students chop down Christmas trees.

With an accurate eye and a confident hand, the next Kareem Abdul Jabar shoots for two.

Two members of the carpentry class are ready to pound those nails.

Auto whiz, Joe Ferris, prepares to attack another car engine.

A new course, developed by math instructor Dick Robinson, was added to that department's curriculum. This unique class allowed some students to complete both Algebra 3 and 4 and pre-calculus within the same year. Thus, more students will be able to take calculus in future years.

Students in the IEP Department continued to beautify Olympia. Those enrolled in Mr. Jan Labell's class worked to improve the appearance of some property along Moxley Creek. In addition, Christmas trees were sold from the department's plot, providing additional monies for IEP activities.

The Olympia Rotary Club once again funded the building of a house. Carpentry classes from the Industrial Arts Department built the house and wood shop students from Mr. John Dally's classes built the cabinets for the home.

Some exciting events took place in the Art Department. First was senior Kelly Curtis' winning design for the USS Olympia. The insignia will appear on the boat, the crew's hats and coats, and all official letters or documents from the ship. Also, calligraphy calendars were printed and sold, utilizing students poetry and art.

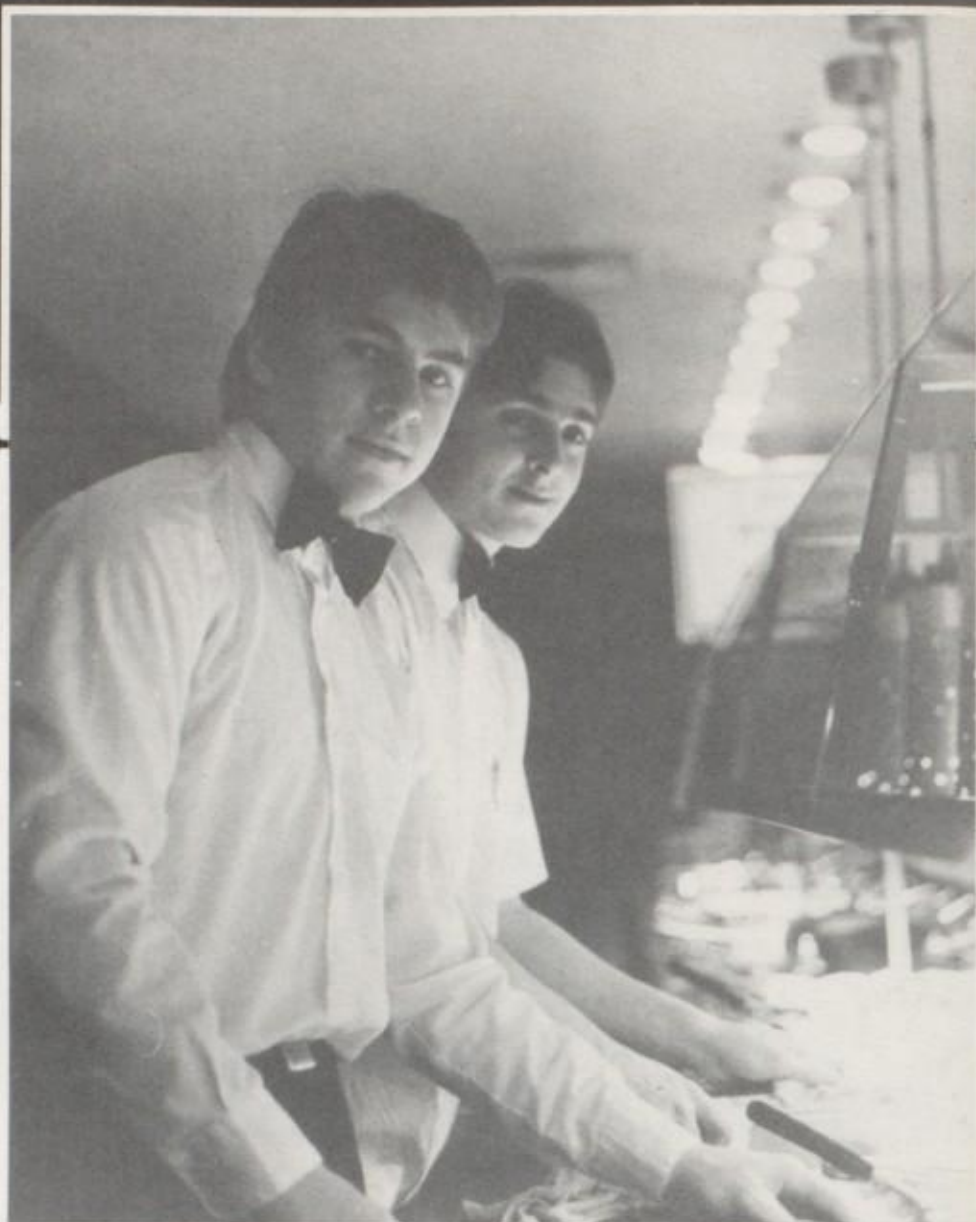

Physical Education continued to offer such classes as Health and advanced weights. In addition, the nursery and Oly Bear Daycare continued in the Home and Family Life Department.

Improved safety was provided in the library by the installation of a security system to prevent the improper removal of books. Now, the budget can be spent buying new books rather than replacing those lost.

Indeed, the departments at Olympia seemed to be growing and offering more and better classes for its students.

Holly cordially invites you to come in and dine at the Burgerstop.

Chris and Brent enjoy dressing up for dinner at the Royal Fork.

Broadcasting from KAOS are Sven Svenson and Dennis Moore (alias Matt Misterek and Erik Price.)

Two young Republicans, Shelly Justis and Jeff Ernst proudly help with the campaign for Governor Evans.

Claim your spot, Tide gets it clean.

AFTER SCHOOL . . . WORK AND PLAY

"Are you sure you want to hold this committee meeting outside, Dennis?"

Girls, isn't it easier to drive looking out the front windshield?

What kind of party are Dee and Dave planning?

"Jill, where are you taking those shopping carts?"

At 2:35, classes ended and students were bound for a variety of places. Some scurried to catch the bus home to get ready for work, while others had to get ready for a big game. Still others found time to relax or to engage in some good old backyard touch football.

COME DANCIN'

Tolo couples decide that their dancing is good enough to try out for A Chorus Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarver relax near the punchbowl.

Dennis Lorton teaches Alisa McKay the new "Boogie Woogie."

Students turned out in large numbers for this year's dances. For the first time the Homecoming dance was semi-formal and was held on Saturday night instead of the traditional Friday night.

November found girls grabbing their favorite guys and hightailing it down to "Dog Patch" for the big hoedown and wedding ceremonies officiated by the honorable Marryin' Sam.

Jeans and boots were put away and dresses brought out for the Tolo. Once again girls did the asking to the semi-formal affair.

To add to the Holiday festivities the Junior class held a Christmas dance. The Senior class sponsored the annual Toga dance as the Ides of March neared and the Spring Formal soon followed in April.

"Yow! Hoedown time!" exclaims Andrew Taber to Dotsi Simms.

Senior guys enjoy relaxing with a haystack full of senior girls.

"I like your shoes!", exclaims John Brown to Cheryl Hendricks.

Carl Lorton imitates John in Urban Cowboy for Sara Murr.

"My tongue is longer than yours!", exclaims Doug Neufeld.

Thespian Troupe

The Thespian Troupe, headed by advisor Deborah Pattin, was a club that helped students interested in the world of show business gain experience in acting, directing, choreography, and stage work. The Troupe took an active part in the Washington Thespian Festival and also participated in the Washington Association of Theatre Artists High School Conference held in March. Other activities included field trips to see productions of high school, college, community and professional plays. Thespian officers were Mary Anderson, President; Carol Davis, Treasurer; and Kim Krevey, Secretary.

Debators Continue Winning Streak

Success seems to follow the Debate Team, who has placed 2nd in State for three consecutive years and placed 3rd last year. Coach Ray Arnold commented, "The team is doing very well this year and should place within the top five."

Varsity members, Jane Maurer, with four years experience, and Sheila Thompson, with three years experience, are undefeated in league and good hopefuls for State.

J.V. Member, Jennifer Stippich, has done well in extemporaneous speaking along with Julie Marston who was a finalist in oratory at a tournament at TESC. Tessa Snyder summed up the year, "It's hard work but worth it."

We The People

The Student Government cabinet, which consisted of the ASB and class officers, met every day during sixth period. The cabinet was responsible for coordinating all Student Government activities. These included Homecoming and its activities; dances and assemblies; the annual food drive; student elections; the annual ASB budget; screening club and activity fundraisers; and providing student input for school administration. As the working arm of the Senate, Student Government investigated and acted upon the Senate's requests.

The Senate was made up of students elected in their social studies and English classes to represent the students. The Senators met to decide on important issues and to present the students' view.

Together, the Student Government cabinet and the Senate worked as a liaison between students, faculty and administration.

Knowledge Bowl

The quix kids have returned with a successful year of trivia competition. Members of the "1st Team," Dave Lomborg, a holdover from last year; Tim McDerald, Dave Merchant, and Eric Price, took first place in most of their competitions. Teams 2,3, and alternates also placed well in their events.

The competitions included three regional matches against nearby schools Capital, North Thurston, Tumwater, and others and also some invitational matches. In addition, the Olympia knowledge bowlers hosted their own invitational here in March.

Leading the successful group were advisor, Mr. Dave Ensberg and his assistant coaches, Mrs. Betty Shaw, Mr. Jim Carlson, and Mathematical biologist, Mrs. Gale Larson. Mr. Ensberg added that the team was "better than last year, but everyone was better than last year."

Peer Support

Peer Support Team Advisor, Mr. Dick Allen, described Peer Support as "a program designed to help people."

The Peer Support Team (PST) members offered assistance to new students and helped them to adapt and get involved in Olympia's campus life. They also provided tutoring for over 100 of their peers throughout the year. In the spring, the members traveled to nearby middle schools to prepare the incoming freshmen for their transition into high school.

The Peer Support Team also did something new by providing posters in the Hello Walk. These thought-provoking signs were posted monthly.

PST was there to help everyone. PST member Laurie Wieland recalled, "We tried our best to make everyone feel comfortable about school."

Paper

Deadlines became the most important word in the newspaper reporters' lives as they struggled to meet their stories due dates. "The production of our paper ran rather smoothly thanks to the cooperation of reporters," commented co-editor Dave Lonborg.

Not only were deadlines a concern, but gathering the facts accurately and interviewing key people were often problems for the young reporters. Also, staffers typed their own stories with the use of the word processing program on the Apple II computers, often a challenge for those with little typing experience. "The chemistry of the staff was really nice. People seemed to enjoy working together," commented Co-Editor Matt Misterick.

Annual

Members of annual staff faced a tough job; they needed to create a book even better than that in 1983. A second challenge for the two experienced members was to teach the new members how to design layouts and crop pictures effectively. Staffers spent many weekends and vacations working to meet the deadlines involved in this production. "In the spring when the book comes out, all of the hard work and frustrations are forgotten," responded Mrs. Ensberg.

The Future Business Leaders of America's (FBLA) main purpose was to help the students gain a knowledge of the business world by training them for it and promoting leadership. Some students were able to attend the Western Region Leadership Conference in Spokane. "It was a great opportunity to get to know others interested in the business field and to learn more about leadership," commented Paul Twibell, one of the students attending the conference. Other club activities included selling pocket calendars, and balloons and sponsoring a car wash.

Medical Careers

Anyone interested in pursuing an education in the medical field was encouraged to join Medical Careers. The club introduced its members to different medical professions by having guest speakers and touring hospitals to familiarize students with the lifestyles of people involved in the world of medicine. The club also informed students of different ways to get financial aid for college. In the spring, members helped with the blood drive and traveled to the University of Washington Hospital to observe open heart surgery.

Key Club

Key Club, sponsored by the Olympia Kiwanis Club, served the school and community. Helping people and having fun were two of the main objectives of the club. At Christmas, club members rang bells for the Salvation Army. In the spring, they organized a "Super Dance" for muscular dystrophy. To raise money for this event, members sold bumper stickers. Club officers (Greg Lane, president; Kevin Forrest, vice president; Steve Larsen, treasurer; and Katie Schmidt, secretary) managed to keep the club's 105 members organized.

DECA

DECA developed future leaders in the field of marketing and distribution. They sponsored fundraisers such as the selling of Homecoming roses and Val-O-Grams. Money from these sales was used to send members to state leadership conferences and on field trips. DECA students had equal opportunities to provide input at meetings and were involved in different committees. Officers included Sean O'Neil, president; Keith Payne, vice president; Dave Echtle, treasurer; Andrea Olson, secretary; and Jeff Bert, sergeant at arms.

Bike Club (Chain Gang), an informal social group of people who like to ride bikes, was most active in the fall and the spring, with a layoff during the monsoon season. In addition to day and over-night rides, they had bike clinics, where members and non-members learned to fix their bikes.

In the fall, they had three rides before the hard rain set in—Steamboat Island, Rainier and Tolmie State Park. Everyone finished and enjoyed the rides. At Tolmie Park, they played touch football with an English muffin, and on the Rainier ride, three people took a wrong turn and got lost. Each ride for the bike club was different, spontaneous, social, and usually more of an adventure than anyone bargained for.

Gun Club

Gun club was started to teach members how to shoot their rifles with "skill and smarts," emphasizing sports and safety. The team participated in a national shooting event at Missouri Technical College. Mr. Strobl encouraged this sport for everyone because it required limited strength. The officers were President-Tony Aslin, Vice-President-David Dewall and Treasurer-Joe Ferris.

Future Homemakers of America was a service organization designed to help youth assume their roles in society through community involvement. President Kathy Hollis, Treasurer Sean Parker, and Secretary Shawna Rise kept the FHA members busy throughout the year.

Club members went skating and skiing for recreation and sold crystal for a moneymaking project. A regional meeting attended by the officers helped members learn of activities which they could implement at OHS.

According to President Jill Green, "International Club was designed to familiarize American students with the foreign exchange students and their culture while in return, helping foreign exchange students to learn and adjust to American culture."

An "introduction party" to get students familiar with one another started the year. Other activities included a field trip to Seattle, a Halloween party, a hiking/camping trip, and a baseball game.

President Jill Green, Vice-President Alexander Hradetzky, Secretary Asa Backmar, and Treasurer Drew Freemantle helped to make a memorable year for the members, both foreign and American.

German Club

"German Club is rising from the ashes, and will (hopefully) make such expressions as 'Freitag gittseidank' everyday occurrences at OHS," commented Ms. Carol Pruefer. The club's activities included bake sales, and a Christmas party. Pretzel and hot chocolate sales helped to raise money for ski trips and a visit to Leavenworth. German Club was led by President Jim Gearhart, Secretary Michelle Hanson, and Treasurer Debbie Tygart.

French Club

"Parlez-vous francais?" French Club membership boomed as over eighty students were involved in some of the most fun activities ever, including watching French movies, going Christmas caroling and having parties. To raise money for these events, croissants were sold during activity periods. Club presidents, Julie Krug and Steve Larsen, along with Secretary Jill Gibbon and Treasurer Paula Evans, planned and coordinated activities with the help of advisor, Mrs. Betty Shaw, and the French Club Council.

Olympia School District has the largest enrollment of Latin students (107) in the Pacific Northwest. "We are very proud of our students who have worked very hard academically to achieve Latin awards at both the state and national levels," commented club advisor Bill Curtis.

President Adrienne Leblanc, vice-president Tim McDonald, and secretary Lorna Hannaway kept Latin club busy with many activities including the annual Christmas party at Mr. Curtis' home and the foreign language banquet.

Spring activities involved a national Latin exam, Washington State Latin Convention and the Roman games at Ingersol Stadium. During summer, some students plan to attend the national convention at the University of Virginia.

Spanish Club

Spanish Club was by far the largest club. Club president Kris Larson and advisors Senor Bill Kuhl and Senorita Diane Jarmin organized all activities which included skating, carolling, and dinner outings at Los Hermanos. The foreign language banquet was held in the spring. "This year was the most active year yet and next year will be even more eventful," commented Vice-president Tim Winter.

FFA

Involvement in Future Farmers of America helps to teach students the different aspects of animal life and care. The major activities of FFA were old McDonald's Farm in the spring and taking animals to the Children's Orthopedic Hospital to cheer up the patients. Paula Engel was chosen to attend the annual national convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Officers included Randy Hodva, Steve Pontius, Deb Mattingly, Paula Engel and Tim Johnson.

Honor Society

Honor Society was organized differently this year. Ray Conner, assisted by chairpersons, formed a cabinet to lead the club's activities and make it a more active part of the school. Each chairperson was in charge of a different committee. Committees included Knowledge Bowl headed by Jill Green, By-laws organized by Peter McLachlan, "Fun" run by Karen Keck, Exchange with Tessa Snyder chairperson, News Service headed by Shawn Martin, and Lecture/Discussion with Cynthia Gibbs as chairperson. With this new organization plan, Advisor Dave Ensberg is trying to involve more students in the club's leadership, enabling more students to become active in this club.

Ushers

Ushers was a group of reliable, warmhearted students dedicated to helping their fellow students as well as members of the faculty and the community. The group assisted peers and faculty at arena and also sold tickets and programs to many sports events throughout the year. Club officers included Becky Miller, president; Tessa Snyder, vice president; and Patty Kintzley, secretary/treasurer.

The band continued its tradition of being an OHS institution (mental institution, that is) as it played and marched its way through the year. In addition to playing at most of the football and basketball home games, the band participated in the University of Washington's Band Day. Marching seasons was highlighted by the work put in by '83-'84 drum major John Stocks and student teacher Scott O'Hara, whose efforts at Oly

Jazz Ensemble

The Jazz Ensemble, consisting of five saxophones, four trumpets, three trombones, and a rhythm section, met at 7:00 a.m. sharp every day for practice. They played for two dances in March, marathon events in April. The group also toured Vancouver, Victoria. Outstanding performers were Steve Thompson (trumpet), first chair in All State and John Stocks and Greg Funkhouser (drums.) Wayne and Karla Timmerman have been overseeing the OHS Music Department for much longer than the class of 1984 has been around. A musician since childhood, Mrs. "T" (The Timmermans are known affectionately as the "T.s" around the Music Building) began at Olympia as a string instrument teacher in 1962. Within her first year, she was also teaching glee and chorus. Five years later a band teacher's job became available, and Wayne received the opportunity to work at Olympia, where the community is very supportive of the schools and the music program. They are also very fond of the students. "I think the kids I work with are some of the best people I could become associated with," reflected Mr. Timmerman.

Orchestra

Approximately 38 students were busy playing in orchestra at appearances all over Olympia. In addition, members attended a contest at Timberline involving schools in Southwest Washington. At the contest, Dave Tobin, Aaron Tarzan, and Calista Koh played violin solos.

Glee & Good Days

Girl's Glee was a group for ninth and tenth grade girls who were interested in singing. The girls performed at the shopping malls at Christmas time and at various concerts and contests throughout the year. Miss Krystal Shoop, student teacher, taught under Mrs. Timmerman for all of this year's vocal groups.

Good Days was a group of twelve talented young ladies, and their equally gifted accompanist, Jeff Ernst. They performed pop music and were very popular at luncheons and meetings. This year's group was led by Kristin Huggins.

Chorus & Madrigals

Chorus is a group for all boys and for eleventh and twelfth grade girls who are interested in singing. Their president was Debra Schmidt and their secretary was Jim Sanderson. The group was invited to Ellensburg for a choral workshop at Central Washington University. They also performed at concerts, contests, and various banquets throughout the year.

This group of students sings songs which are usually contemplative in nature, in which two or more voices sing separate melodies to a simple text. These songs are called madrigals, thus the name of the group. The group was led by Karen McHale, and their announcer was Tim Winter. They performed for some of the more formal banquets and meetings in our area.

Dance Comes Alive

Together Friends Strive For Excellence

"I have been very impressed by the 1983-84 Oly Girls Dance Team. They are a committed group who constantly strives for excellence in their performances by dedicating themselves to long and sometimes difficult hours of practice," stated Mrs. Valerie Pope, Dance Team advisor. Team members practiced four days a week plus one additional night with the band during the football and basketball seasons. Special routines created for football included the "Back to School Again" fifties dress-up routine and the co-performance with the Capital Cougarettes.

Seven members of the team went to Dance Camp at Pacific Luthern University this past Summer. The girls brought home a Superior Trophy following the tradition of the past two years when the Olympia High School Dance Team has been given a Superior Award. "The most important part of Dance Team was the closeness between members," commented Senior Debbie Sevedge. Holly Neel was also impressed by the comradeship, "Being on for three years, I have made many lasting friendships. I enjoy the performances because it makes the hard work pay off." Captain Jenna Derkland was delighted with the team because they were so determined and so supportive. Jenna felt that this was her best year and was glad to end with such a great group of girls. Senior Co-Captain Karen Keck also highly valued her three years on the team. "My memories of high school will be of the good times and the hard work that I shared with the other team members."

Champs Run Out Of Time

End With A 4-5 Record

With only two returning varsity players, this season proved to be a learning experience. Throughout the season, the front line-up was changing every week because the team wasn't able to get the "error free execution" the Black Hills League required. By the end of the season the starting players nailed down their positions and were able to get together and play at champ level. "The boys were champs, but they ran out of time," commented Coach Dunn.

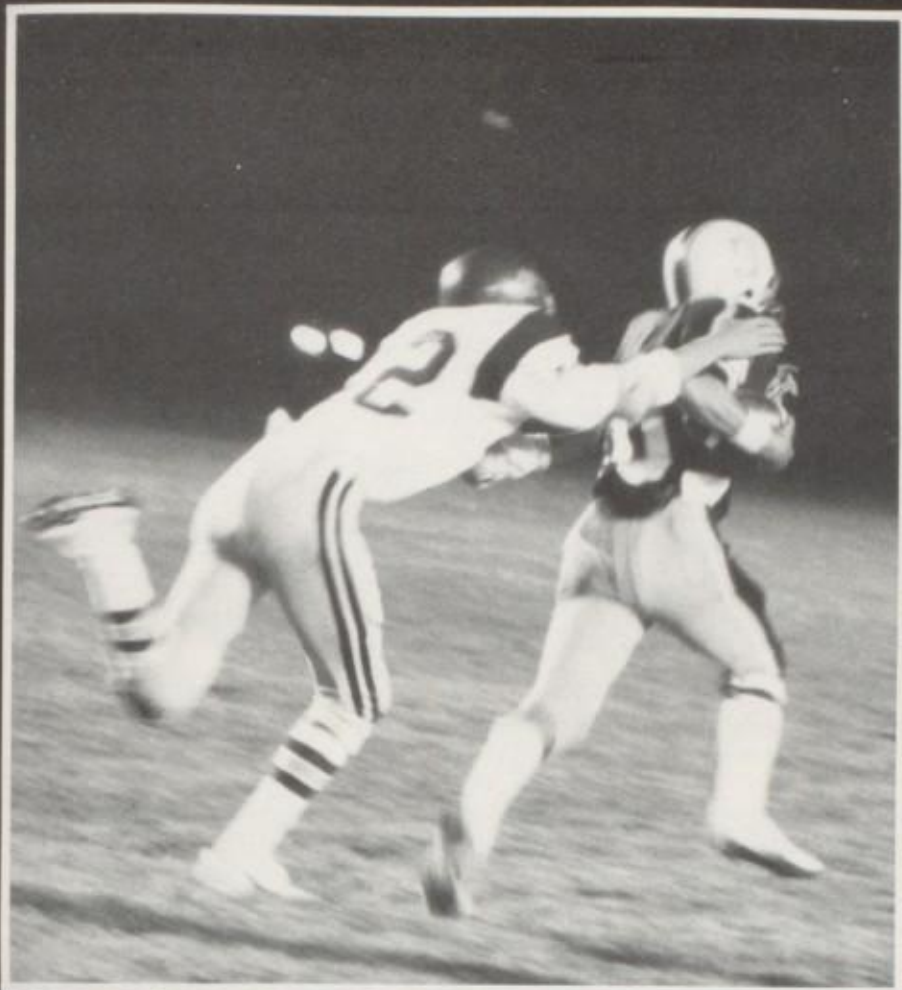

With a 4-5 win-loss record, the Bears ended the season two victories away from the playoffs. Outstanding players included defense: Derek Kerstetter, Tom Sokolik, Dale Meridieth, and Pete Smith; offense: Greg Kapust, Brian Brock, Tim Ritter, and Jeff Bert. Outstanding underclassmen included Dan Winter, Dave Loonam, Mark Ward, Steve Cavin, Mike Cairone, Jeff Markoff, Shawn May, Scott Lohr, John Cook, Brett Collins, and David Moody.

Young Bears Come On Strong

Coming on strong with a better record than expected, the freshmen boys' football team achieved a 4-2 season. Some of the outstanding players included Matt Lane, wide receiver; Jay Nickerson, offensive tackle; Jason King, offensive lineman, Court Niemi, offensive lineman; and Dave Fesenbeck, running back.

Coach Bill Maguire described the team as "diamonds in the rough with good talent." He is looking forward to seeing many of the boys on the varsity squad; but, he reflected, "only time will tell how much the boys are willing to work and sweat."

Girls' tennis "overcame doubts of having a successful year in the beginning of their season and won the BHL Title," commented Captain Erin Kiley.

Because thirty girls tried out for ten varsity and sixteen J.V. spots, a new division was created. They called the beginning 8-10 players Junior, Junior Varsity (JJV's). These girls showed up for all practices and really wanted to learn how to play tennis. Mrs. Pam Krinbring became an assistant coach to help handle the large team and coach the JJV's.

Even with so many girls, everyone got along quite well. "As a team we appreciated each other for working so hard and had the strength to make it a winning year," state Kara Keating.

"It was a surprising year simply because they were a young team and they came out on top. They worked hard and came out undefeated," said Coach Betty Tobin.

Bears Gain Confidence During Season

Young, Inexperienced Team Shows Great Potential

"We were a young team and had not played together as a unit before this year. As the girls gained confidence in other team members they improved greatly," stated girls' soccer coach, Mrs. Sally Henden. She believes that in the tough league season the girls played better than their record showed. The team finished with a 6-6 BHL record.

Near the end of the season the Bears played against league champions North Thurston. They played with skill and determination and almost upset the powerful team. Though the loss was disappointing the girls gained the respect they deserved.

The leading scorer in league games was Captain Tiffany Weir with nine goals. Kim Gunther helped the team with eight assists. During the awards banquet at the end of the season fellow players cheered as Meegan Denger received Most Inspirational player and Tricia Campbell was honored with the Most Valuable player award. The Coach's Awards, selected by Mrs. Henden, were given to Melanie Lamb, Most Dependable; Courtney Latta, Most Improved; and Lisa Brown, Most Hustle. Learning To Endure

Running Is The Name Of The Game

The "Blue Wave" of the Cross-Country team made quite a splash. With only two league losses, the boys' varsity moved on to Districts. They finished 4th of 18 teams. Unfortunately, only the top three teams from each district go to State. The runners were disappointed but still remained optimistic about next year due to JV's great season with only one loss. The girls' cross country team, although slight in number, finished 10th in Districts and met their goal of improving each week.

"We pushed our bodies to new peaks in pain, knowing that each gasp of breath, each lengthy stride brought us closer to our journey's end," reflected runner Matt Misterek.

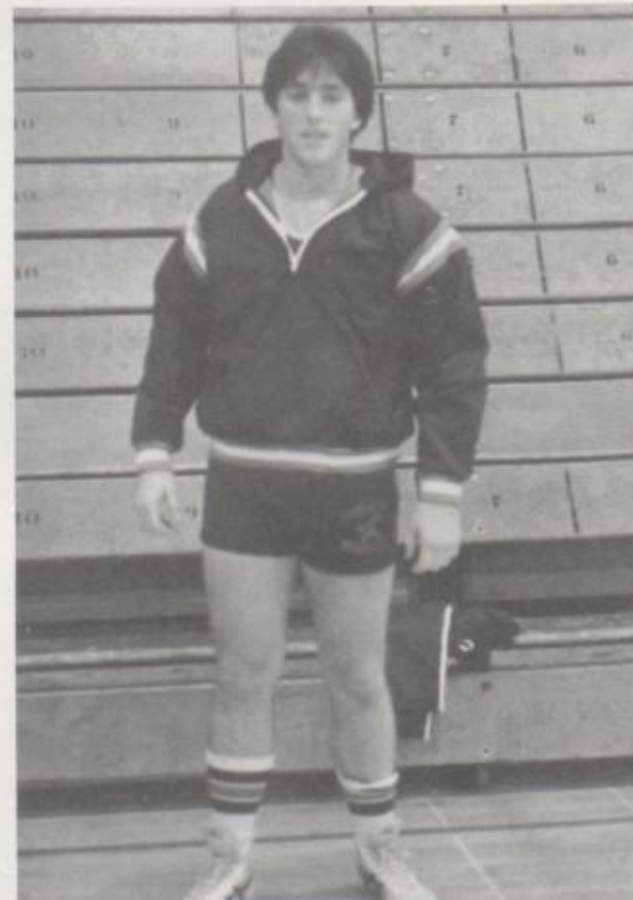

Although cross country does not have the glamour and support of the cheering crowds, those involved have the inner gratification of knowing they have pushed and exceeded their limits.

Mary White, Lisa Fox and friend:

On your mark . . . Get set . . . GO! And go is exactly what this year's girl's swim team did. The girls started off their season by taking first place in the Black Hills League Relays. During league meets the team had two disappointing losses, one to Aberdeen and one to N. Thurston. The girls finished the season by placing second in districts.

This year's team consisted of 14 swimmers and each one of them worked very hard. "The girls had real good attitudes this year," Coach Scott feels. Their attitudes were proven through their attendance and willingness to please. The swimmers practiced at least twenty hours a week and each swimmer averaged 16,000 yards a day. Four school records were set and five team members went to state; Mary White, Lisa Fox, Ingrid Elsinga, Margaret Freeman, and Kim Hummel.

The swimmers good attendance and hard work payed off. Coach Scott also gives much of the credit for their successful season to the teams ability to work together. "This year we pulled together as a team instead of individuals." Coach Scott was very positive concerning the girls this year. As one swimmer commented, "It was an awesome year!!"

Matches Provide Breathtaking Action

As Far As Possible Without Surrender

At the onset Coach Laurie Creighton was very optimistic about the type of season the Bears would have. Despite the many injuries suffered prior to the jamboree, she still felt they had the depth and talent to overcome those problems. "There were times when things definitely moved pretty slow for us, but we can not be too disappointed considering five of our six losses were to teams who made it to state. Maybe we can return that favor to someone else next season since we will not graduate any seniors," commented Coach Creighton.

The Bears finished the regular season with eight wins and two losses, giving them third place in the Black Hills League. Ahead of them were Capital and Tumwater. "We started out kind of slow, but near the end of the season we really pulled together," stated a member of the team. At Districts on the fourth and fifth of November in Kelso the team finished fourth. Unfortunately, only the top three teams go to state. "We played very well this year and I am looking forward to a great season next year," emphasized Captain Teri Smotryski who was satisfied with their performance.

At the end of the season Christine Nelson was awarded with "Most Inspirational" and Melinda Ventar received "Most Improved". The Coach's Award selected by Coach Creighton was given to Angie Cochran.

Coach Brad Jackson took an inexperienced varsity team from an inconsistent first half of the season on to a strong finish in the second half. Six seniors, Steve Ask, Steve Frost, Greg Lane, Joey McCann, Sean O'Neil, and Tim Steen, with little varsity experience, led the Bears to a 9-11 season. Averaging 16.5 points a game, Joe McCann led all scorers. Outstanding floor leader, Tim Steen, was tops in assists. Key reserve roles were played by the other four. All six seniors have played an integral part in four successful years of Olympia High Basketball.

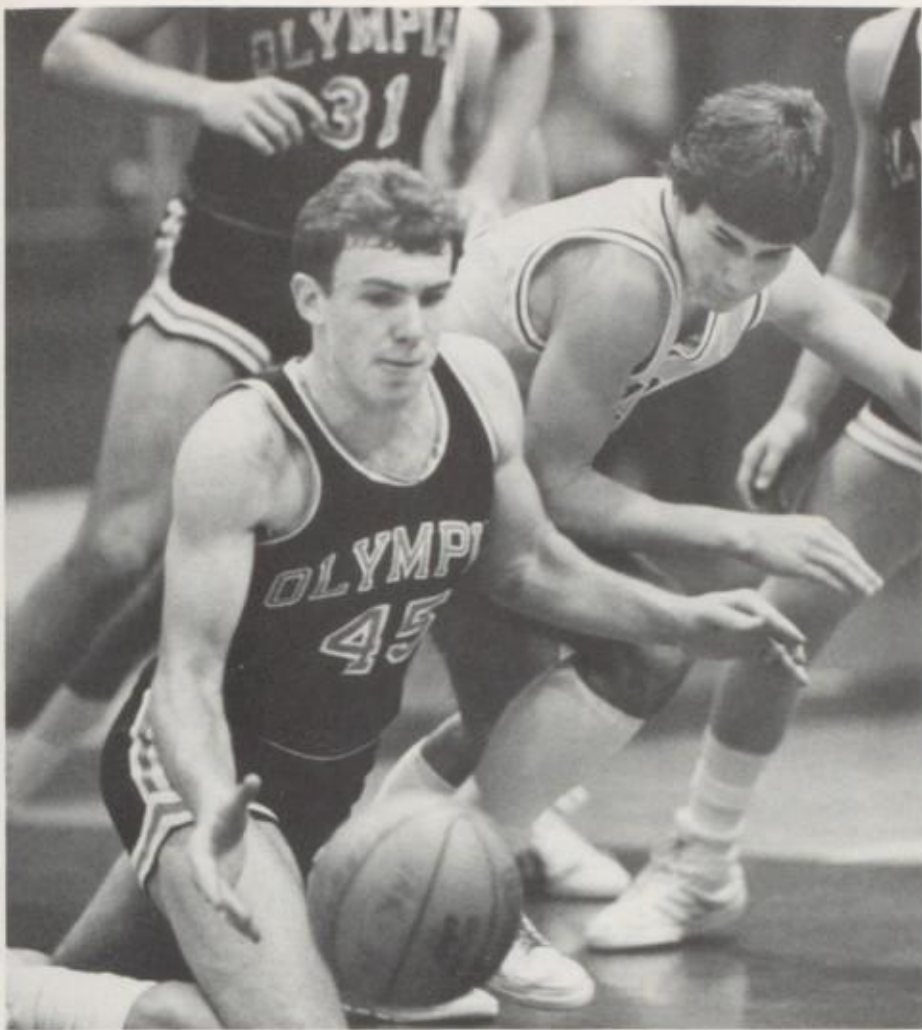

Once Coach Jackson and his assistants, Bill Curtis and Tim Healy, had determined the roles each player would fill, the team played with better consistency. Double victories over North Thurston and Shelton coupled with strong performances in extremely close games with Capital, Yelm, and Tumwater show the determination and improvement of this year's ball club as the season with three of the losses coming by a total of six points. Good varsity experience was gained by Todd Donaldson, who broke the school record for blocked shots; Dan and Tim Winter, strong rebounders, at the forward position; hustling guard, Mark Tate; and outstanding sophomore post-man, John Cook. The strong finish of this year's varsity squad will act as a great springboard for the 1984-85 season.

Junior varsity and underclass teams show future promise

This season was very rewarding for the Junior Varsity. Their 15-5 record and second place in the Black Hills League exceeded their expectations in spite of the loss of several key individual players. However, other players rose to the occasion. Mike Frost scored 241 points, the most ever by a sophomore. John Kiley set a new JV record for assists with 154. Tim Malroy established new JV records for blocked shots for a single game (6) and for the season (36). "The team was made up of ten players who all worked very hard for their success on the court and who are also very fine young men off the court," reflected Coach Curtis.

The sophomore team had a rewarding year with a 20-0 record. Each player worked equally hard to earn their success. Dave Nickerson, a former OHS basketball player, coached the successful team.

The enthusiastic freshmen, coached by Tim Haly, finished the season with a 6-4 record.

Spectacular teamwork caused the Bears to be the winning team they were. Olympia can be very proud of their Girls Varsity Basketball team. This team which enjoys playing a running game finished second place in the league. Consisting of six seniors—not including Cheryl Brandell, who could not play because of a knee injury—two juniors, and four sophomores, the team worked very hard to reach the play-offs. These devoted young athletes easily qualified for District Play-offs. They lost their first game but won their second, putting them third in Districts. In Regional play-offs they lost a heartbreaking game to Centralia. Despite this disappointing loss Jill Carnevali, Kris Larson, and Jody Missel were named All BHL, with honorable mention also going to Debbie Cooper and Melanie Lamb.

With easy grace Lisa Terry does a quick lay-up.

Kamikazes, that's what the J.V. girls were this year. These hard playing and hustling Bears still had fun. Enjoying themselves didn't prevent the girls from having an outstanding season either. They finished 18-0 in league play and 19-1 overall with Elma and Capital their toughest contenders. The team consists of one junior and eight sophomores. Four of the sophomores received varsity experience. As a result, the coach has much hope for next year's team.

Ending the season with a league record of seven wins and only three losses, Olympia High's freshmen girls team were truly hard workers. Their most exciting game was their first game with Tumwater, which went into overtime. After a struggle, it ended with a difference of only two points between the teams. The five starters were Angie Hulbert, Shelly Cooper, Susie Jackson, Tami Holland, and Kim Gunther.

"BEST TEAM SINCE 1975"

BROKE THREE SCHOOL RECORDS

Starting off the season by taking first place in the BHL relays, the boys swim team held strong. The Bears were 6-0 in the league, placed fourth at Southwest Washington Districts and fifth in State.

Coach Mark Scott believed all swimmers "worked really hard. This is Oly's best team since 1975 in breaking school records." In addition to breaking school records the boys broke three District records.

At State the Bears had three all-American swims. They included the 200 medley relay by Matt Hougan, Christian Kemp, Rob Martin and Dave Hougan; the 100 back stroke by Christian Kemp and Matt Hougan; and the 200 medley relay, which placed second. Personal best times were broken and great performances were recorded by some underclassmen. Tim Marlow placed eighth at State and won at Districts. Matt Hougan placed ninth in the 200 IM at State and Rob Martin placed ninth in the 100 butterfly.

High Scores Bring Winning Season For Gymnastics

Girls Undefeated In League Competition

"Our gymnastics team did very well this year and we had some of the highest scores ever," stated varsity member, Kim Grant. Despite a small turnout, the girls worked hard and had an outstanding year. Undefeated in league competition, the gymnasts finished fourth in Districts.

Outstanding competitors included Heidi Palmer, Carla Medak, Kim Grant, Deb Schmidt, Megan Angier, and Stacey Jones. Heidi Palmer and Megan Angier participated in the State meet but were disappointed with the outcome.

With most of the team hopefully returning next year, "we can expect great performances and thrilling victories in the future," commented Coach Greg Skinner.

Wrestling

Wrestlers Continue Winning Tradition

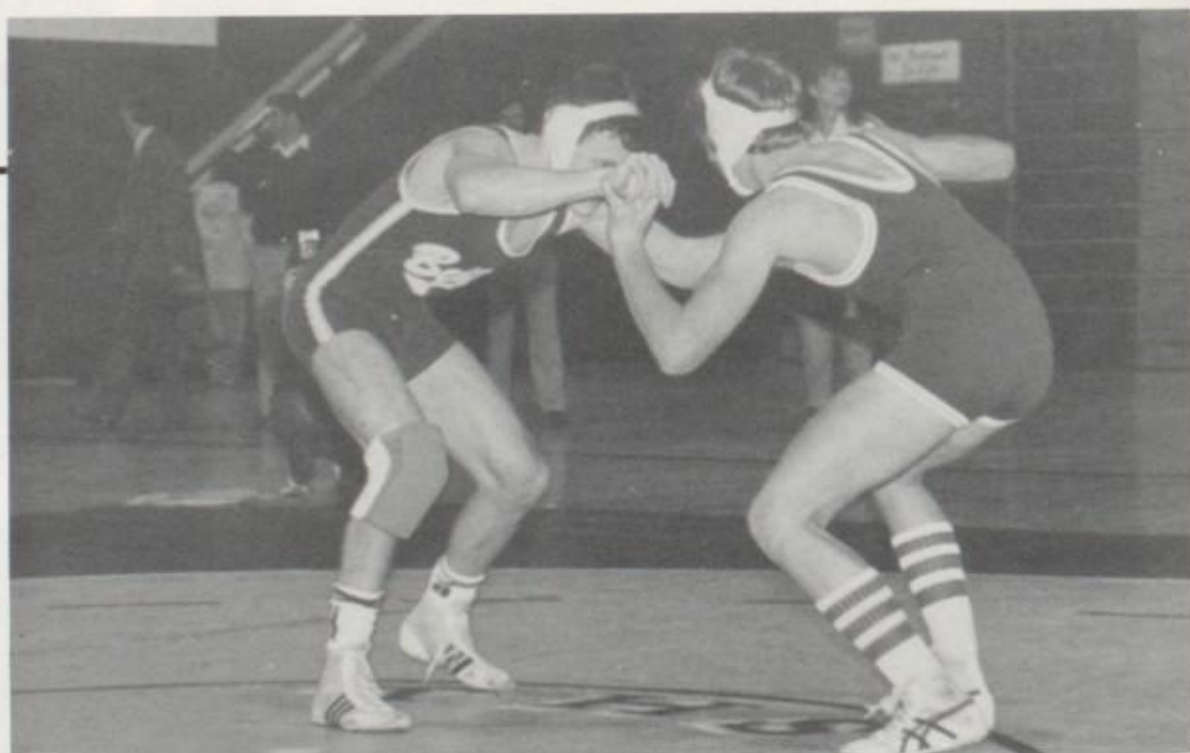

Bears Take Black Hills League Two Years In A Row

High pain tolerance, no padding, and putting in long hours of practice are all part of the wrestling game according to Coach Isely. Thirty seconds of hard one-on-one contact can make or break the champion.

Coach Isely is very proud of this year's bears. The varsity team consisted of ten seniors and three aspiring sophomores. At the beginning of the season Coach Isely looked toward another great year. His hopes were well met. After clinching the BHL title for the second year in a row, the Bears went on to win Districts. Many of these tough wrestlers went to state, including: Stu Schoch, 5th, John Wilfong, Scott Near, Jeff Davis, and Dale Meriedeth. These bears deserve recognition for their outstanding performances.

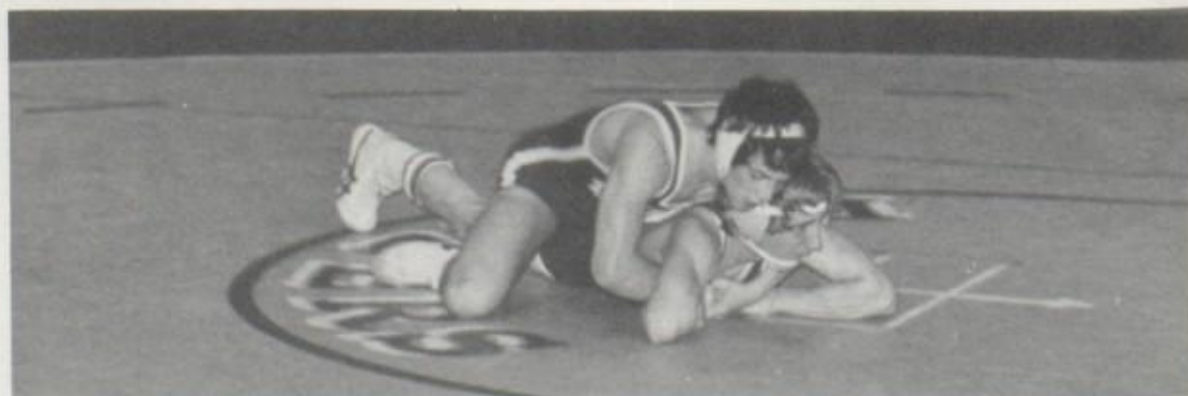

"There is more to wrestling than meets the eye," states coach Isely. "Not only do the wrestlers have to take on their opponent, but they also have to take on a strict diet."

Other season highlights include: 1st in Ed Stevens Tournament, 2nd at regionals, 2nd in Ellensburg Tournament, and 4th in Chehalis Tournament.

Over 100 Athletes Result In Record Turnout

Tracksters Predicted To Do Well In League

Over 100 athletes turned out for track this season, the largest group in over seven years. Such a large number of participants resulted in several new standouts.

Freshman Shelley Cooper proved to be one of the outstanding female runners while Matt Lane turned in some good times for the boys in the quarter mile. Kris Larson, team captain and state contender for the last three years, anchored the women's team with record shot, discus, and javelin throws. Other top returning athletes included captain Brian Mohoric, sprinter; Dave Miskimmens, distance runner; and captain Tim Ritter, shot and discus.

Promising Season Predicted For Baseball

A Young Varsity Team Gains Experience

VARSETY: Row 1: M. Denger, L. Benett, P. Blakeway, A. Komer, B. Collins, S. Woodruff, B. Freeman, E. Fielder. Row 2: S. Cavin, C. Bade, D. Ledgerwood, M. Maxin, B. Nedrow, Coach Maguire, J. Stocks, M. Frost, T. Sokolic.

This year's varsity baseball team was young and inexperienced in the beginning. As the season progressed, they gained experience through their mental mistakes to become strong contenders for the title. Offensively, the team was led at the plate by sophomore Mike Frost and Juniors Mark Maxin and Steve Cavin. Brent Collin's speed was also an asset to the team. On the defensive side, Scott Woodruff at shortstop. Tom Sokolic on first, catcher John Stocks and pitcher Eric Fiedler contributed to the team. On the pitcher's mound, Bryan Freeman and John Stocks proved young but experienced. "The first of the season was painfully slow experience because we were a young ball club. Near the end of the season, we played strong, aggressive, exciting baseball after we found out what we had to do to win the Black Hills Hill's League," commented Coach Bill Maguire. He also added that seniors John Stocks and Tom Sokolic helped to carry the team through the first part of the season. As the players gained confidence, the season became more of a pleasure for both players and coach.

Bryan Freeman

The 1984 junior varsity team was young and inexperienced. However, it did have individuals who appeared to have outstanding ability and perhaps would be competing to play for the varsity team before the season was over. During the season some of the Freshmen were also used on the field. "We felt the J.V. team was an exciting team to watch as they developed this season," commented Coach Curtis.

JV: Row 1: T. Barnes, Coach Curtis, M. Brown. Row 2: L. Bennett, C. Lorton, K. Gunther, M. Stone, P. Blakeway, D. Ledgerwood, B. Nedrow, T. McDonald, S. May, J. Lundberg, M. Cairone, M. Denger, S. Myers.

This year, C-Team started out slowly and finished up the season as strong players. Some individuals proved to be exceptional in their ability. They will go on to be strong players on the J.V. and varsity teams.

Hard work goes into making the traditionally strong Olympia Bears softball team. For the past five years our teams have won either first or second in the league. This year books to be promising also, even though the team is made up of mostly juniors, carrying only two seniors. Because of the lack of seniors, the juniors will have both the honor and duty of continuing the winning tradition next year.

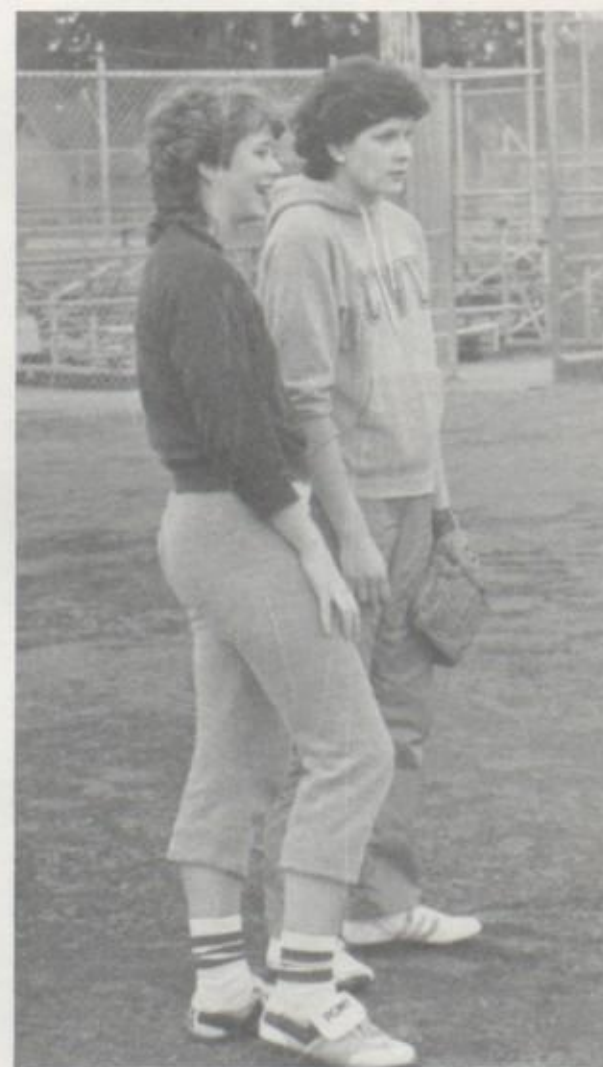

"I am continually amazed at the skill level of our talented athletes," stated Coach Sortun. "Their hard work and dedication to softball has made the Olympia Bears a force to be reckoned with in the Black Hills League as well as Southwest Washington."

With practices and games canceled because of rain, the team has to have dedication to stay together. This dedication, along with the drive to be the best was the ingredient of a winning team.

Coach John Gallagher fielded "the most skilled soccer team in the history of Olympia High School." Consisting of nearly forty athletes, seventeen of whom played on varsity, the soccer team was a fairly young squad with a large contingent of talented freshmen. Coach Gallagher described his juniors as being "excellent", and spoke highly of his six seniors, who have each contributed to Oly's soccer program for the past four years. The coach praised senior Dave Merchant, saying, in his estimation, "he's the best player in the Black Hills League." The 1984 boy's soccer team had good depth, were hard working, and were definitely among the best teams in the Black Hills League.

Coach Whipple predicted an overall winning season from the tennis team. State play-offs were also on the mind of Bears for this spring as they have four returning state veterans: seniors Pete Bismuti, Brian Boe, Erik Price, and sophomore John Kiley. Pete Bismuti, an asset to Oly's team is probably the best AA singles player in Washington state. They also have very good young team members, playing their best out on the courts.

OHS has been league and district champions for the last three years and last year they became state champions. Hopefully, history will repeat itself for the boys' tennis team.

Golf Team Shoots For State

School Record Broken In The First Match

The Olympia High School golf got off to a great start this year by breaking the school record in the first match. Mike Kerans led the team with a thirty six average and the honor of being the only high school player to shoot a thirty two on the Tumwater Valley Golf Course. Other varsity players were Evan Parker, Chris Notenboom, Joe McCann, Steve Ask, Rex Hopp, John McCauley, and David Bossio.

Coach Tim Healy felt that this year's team had the most depth and was the most skilled high school team he had coached. "Most of the guys are so close on the average that nine of us have a chance to qualify for state, commented team player Mike Kloefer.

Reflections of the Year

Teachers

"We have super good kids this year but they are more passive; they seem to accept what teachers tell them without question. However, this might not be the students' faults but might just reflect the state of the world now. The world has shifted toward the conservative. Our students now offer fewer arguments on issues, are not as involved or concerned about world events and really are more into their own lives. In the 1970's, for example, I could not bring marines or drug enforcement policemen into class as speakers because they would be mobbed. Today, students ask these types of speakers how to get into the marines or drug enforcement work." -Ray Arnold

"It seems like education is swinging back to the way it was in the beginning. Instead of unimportant courses like basket weaving in the 60's, students are taking important classes. Students have not changed that much but the motivation has. Students are now working to their required levels. In previous years, however, students seemed to have more time for homework because they didn't have so many other responsibilities like sports, work and so on." -Hank Melusky

"Everybody is talking about excellence, getting tough and so on. We have to draw a balance between intensifying our program without hurting some students in the process.

The computer revolution is on us. We have to teach teachers as fast as we can so they can teach students, but students seem to be learning faster. I am excited to see what is next." -David Ensberg

"Everyone's learning foreign languages these days—not just German or French, but BASIC, LOGO PASCAL! And now, computers are reciprocating by learning human languages—there's even a printer in our own computer center that knows German! Who says computers are unempathic?" -Carol Pruefer

Freshmen

"To be a freshman is to look forward to the first day of school, the first football game, the first dance, and even your first finals. It's great to know that you're in high school and that you are beginning a wonderful new part of your life. I looked forward to my freshman year at OHS with such excitement, joy, trepidation, and wonder. I couldn't wait to experience it all. I discovered a bright world full of academic challenges, fine teachers, new friends, and new adventures. I will never forget my first day of high school: new clothes (what should I wear?), new teachers, and new books. The anxiety and anticipation produces a sleepless night for many new freshmen. A kind word from an upper classman or a helping hand from an administrator can help to alleviate our fears, put us on the right track, and convince us that OHS is a friendly place to be. I especially enjoyed participating in the fun sports programs and the excellent music program. Struggling with schedules and arena, getting lost on the way to geometry, working on our homecoming skit, and performing in my first OHS Christmas concert are experiences that freshmen endure and come to cherish." -Kirsten Phillips

"It was an exciting year except for the food fights. It's a drastic change from the dull life of middle school. I really enjoyed the football games. I'm looking forward to another year of high school." -Lisa Wieland

Experiences

"I'm awesome," joked Todd Springfield. "It started as a joke because a friend told me that I looked like Rick Springfield so I decided to try out for the lip synch." -Todd Donaldson

"It's been a good year in art. Everyone's talents have really improved. There has been a lot of talent uncovered with the help of Mr. Freemantle. I am sure that there will be this great improvement in the future also." -Peggy Lawrence

"I had a really good experience at this school compared to my Spanish school. I loved the people, sports, dances and assemblies. I just loved everybody. I am going to miss it a lot. It was the most rewarding experience I have had. I will never forget it." -Grunilla Albiñ

"I appreciate the respect that has been given me by upperclassmen and faculty. I like the opportunities that high school presents." -Eric Huggins

"My four years at OHS have been a great learning experience. Lakefair is a terrific way for me to say thank you." -Julie Krug

"The only ones who get really the hang of high school are the seniors; this happens around the time they graduate." -Tim Ritter

Humor

"When I think of something funny, I think of when Rich Winter went to kiss Julie Krug and ended up kissing his mom." -John Brown

"Gunnar Olson and I picked up one Tuesday night and drove to Sea-Tac to crash the DECA convention. We ended up being chased around the Red Lion Inn by some teachers and we had to hide in some DECA students' closet. I think one of them won state in job interview or something like that." -Mike Anderson

"On my seventeenth birthday, I got a plate full of shaving cream in my face from my brother. It was dumb because it stung my eyes and people thought I was crying." -Mary Tu

"Mike Anderson and I went to Everett to visit some friends. David Hougan and Sara Fenton went with us. They got into a huge fight and left us in Everett at 2:15 a.m. with no ride home. Mike wanted to hitchhike home instead of spending the night. We stayed with some people we hardly knew. I had to work the next morning and Mike had to get a haircut the next day. Those are the only things we worried about.

We got an early start at 9:00 a.m. and hit the freeway. We got a ride from some lady in a van that almost got into a wreck. People were honking at her and crabbing. She brought us to a "good ramp" (good place to get picked up). We waited for 2½ hours—some good ramp, huh! No one came by and we thought we were all alone until suddenly two huge German Shepherds started chasing the mailman. We hoped we wouldn't get noticed by the dogs. We looked at each other and said, "Oh, my gosh!" Fortunately, the dogs didn't see us as we pretended to be part of the scenery. After 2½ hours, a guy gave us a ride ten miles down the freeway. At the next "ramp," we met a fellow hitchhiker who told us to hold money to attract cars. After 15 minutes, a Charles Manson look alike picked us up and gave us a ride, not to mention a scare. Then we got a ride to a not so desirable neighborhood. We made phone calls at 7-Eleven. He missed his haircut and I missed work. We finally made Dave come and get us, the final ride of our unforgettable journey. A helpful hint to those future hitchhikers: Carry a weapon at all times. Dave Hougan, you are the one who owes me a favor!" -Sean O'Neil

"1984 by George Orwell? Or, well, I haven't read it." -Erik Price

Sports

"There is nothing like a little physical pain in football to take your mind off your homework blues." -David Moody

"Cheerleading is not just a glamorous, easy job. It requires hard work, dedication, and many smiles in good times and bad. I felt it was a great way for me to become involved." -Laurie Wieland

"Sports have been very meaningful to me this year. My memories of basketball will be with me throughout the years." -Melanie Lamb

"High school athletics demand a combination of hard work and mental preparation. Once you have these basics, there is no knowing how far you can go or what you can achieve." -John Kiley

"Our teams didn't win a whole lot this year, but we sure had a good time trying!" -Darin Rollman

Activities

The French Club potluck was just fine,
We made it home by a quarter to nine,
To catch the Grammys and watch Micheal shine.

It started off with some great French food,
that put us all in a gay mood.

The cheap plastic spoons,
And Betty's favorite French tunes,
Now all we needed were some big red balloons.

Well, the judging finally began,
To decide on the winning pan.

It was a shot in the sky,
We gave it our best try,
And entered our French silic pie.

We waited for the decision,
It was up to the French club council precision.

Much to our surprise,
We hauled home the grand prize,
Along with Laurie and her chicken in disguise.

Our prize was just groovy,
Two tickets to any movie.

We finally got our first date,
It turned out, just great,
'cause Kevin didn't have to pay, the cheapskate.

-Prize winning chefs:
Kevin Forrest and Kristin Densmore

"Getting onto the Knowledge Bowl team was something I'd definitely do again if I had to live this year over. The pressure got to be pretty intense sometimes, of course, but we made such a good showing it was worth it.

Everyone who went to the practices ought to be congratulated for trying something that can be pretty tedious and doesn't bring in awful lot of school recognition. Our coaches were great, too, all of them—even our adviser, Mr. Ensberg, was fairly o.k. (My days are numbered after he reads this).

By the way, if you (yes, you) think you can hit buzzers and answer questions with the best of them, look into Knowledge Bowl next year: trivia can be entertaining! Like Knowledge Bowl alumnus Dave Lonborg says, "When ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise."

Now if someone would just tell me what he means by that... -Chris Willrich

"The music department has always been a large part of Oly High. Those who have been involved will never forget the good times and the feeling of unity and pride that comes from being a part of this department." -Jill Pilgrim

A Jet Paced Year For A Jet Paced Society

The quick paced year had annual staffers all too ready for a long vacation.

Modeling the annual after Time magazine meant hours of planning before even beginning to draw a single layout. It meant more writing than before and it meant a strict lay-out plan for the entire book.

Staffers stuck to their guns. The result was a well planned annual, much more in depth write-ups and a myriad of vivid photographs.

Producing the annual took a variety of talent. Their hard work is well appreciated.
